The club also has a nominated Child and Vulnerable Adult Protection Officer, who should be approached initially with any concerns or queries related to this area. The officer will assess and deal with such matters initially and then raise any critical matters directly with the committee for further action. Our current Protection Officer is:

Jane McCartney

Practice ice has not been pre-booked for this season and it is hoped to get some coaching ice once we know the ice availability. We also hope to identify possible new members and the rink is providing one free session for these new people.

Letham Grange Curling Club is fortunate that we already have a number of qualified RCCC coaches within our club but we would encourage more members to take up coaching as it not only helps others develop the basic skills required for curling but also enables members to improve their own game through reflection. There are a number of RCCC Level 1 courses (lasts one day plus coaching time) available throughout Scotland. See RCCC website or any of our coaches for more information.

Attracting new members to Letham Grange Curling Club

The club has planned a normal and full range of competitions which LGCC members usually participate in. Mike and his staff should be congratulated for all the work they did in ensuring there is still a rink in Forfar to go back to this coming season after the high energy cost. While the energy costs have come down a little they are still higher than previous years and this years rink fees reflect this.

As a current member of the club, you may have family, friends or work colleagues who would like to come along and try curling in this year. We encourage this, and with the coaching sessions being planned at the rink by LGCC when we have identified possible new curlers.

We would also like to do a leaflet drop in Arbroath and surrounding areas where our existing members are based.

We still hope to continue and expand our New Age Curling in Arbroath with the possibility of using College students as coaches in Primary schools once the correct procedures are in place. Watch this space and we will update you with any developments when they take place.

'Gateway Club' at Forfar Curling Centre is for new curlers who wish to join other people learning the game. FGCC meets fairly regularly, with regular coaching and games organised throughout the season, after which members can join an appropriate club from their own area. FGCC members pay a reduced annual subscription of just £32, and the first club meeting is at Saturday 7th October, 2023. For more information speak to some of our own members who are in the Gateway(FGCC) or to Brian McArtney.

WATCH our Facebook page for more news.
